

WORK ON NEW WATER PLANT STARTS

Labor Is Scarce Crops Look Good Prices Are Slow

Corn and beans remained the only crop moving in volume this week as most packing houses and growers expect bigger volumes in almost every item by next week.

What growers have described under good to excellent growing conditions continued to prevail this week and some agricultural experts have cautiously predicted one of the largest fall crops this year.

Labor
J. W. Mosley, Florida State Employment Service farm placement representative, said there was trouble finding hands. Bean pickers are scarce due to the picking activity on the east coast. Some 800 workers are coming through the day-haul program from Dan to Sebring and Fort Myers to Fort Pierce and although some labor is coming from the northern areas, the labor situation may be tight there until after the bean harvest around the second week in December.

Vegetables
Beans of better quality are expected next week. Market conditions have been weaker in the past two days, with prices ranging $1.16 to tender greens to $2.20 for fancy Valentines.

Corn prices are down somewhat due to the volume. Prices ranged $2.20 depending on size and quality. Tomatoes are due to start in volume in the Devil's Garden area in a week or ten days.

It may be ten days to two weeks before let items will move in volume. Presently, there is enough to supply dehydrated items now in volume. (Continued on page Four)

All Ages Join In Festive Carnival

A capacity crowd turned out for the Annual PTA Halloween Carnival last Thursday night. Young and old joined in the merry-making and were well entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Boots co-chairman for the event reported approximately 1,100 were realized with still some outstanding bills. He wished to express their appreciation to all those who made the carnival a success including the merchants, business houses, professional people, producers, citizens for their donations, and to the clubs and patrons of the PTA, to the committees who worked on the concessions and civic organizations and others.

Many new attractions added to the entertainment at the Carnival this year including the enlarged ring a pen and balloon darts. The children were quite charmed with the man and the colored girl who entertained. (Continued on page Seven)

JOB AND WORKER

J. W. Mosley, Jr., Representative Florida State Employment Service

How About That?—The Chamber of Commerce has an inquiry from a manufacturing firm seeking to locate in South Florida. They will employ from forty to fifty workers on a year-around basis. All they need is a modern building in a good location, and with room for expansion. They would lease such a building at a fair price.

Boonana For Belle Glade—Creation of fifty new skilled jobs in Belle Glade at an average of $70.00 per week would mean $3,500 per week to be spent in Belle Glade for homes, food, clothing, autos, gasoline, drugs, furniture, insurance and what have you. This is almost a quarter of a million dollars a year. Every business, and the city itself, would get a substantial part of that $350,000.

Help Wanted—There is a crying need for twenty-five businessmen who are self-reliant, who would like to get a percentage of that $350,000 for their business. Belle Glade needs this new company, and there is but one way to get it. (Continued on page Four)

C. R. Smith Dies Of Gunshot Wound

Charles Russell Smith, 60, 1414 NW Ave. F, Place died Wednesday morning at a West Palm Beach hospital of a self-inflicted gunshot wound received Nov. 1. Belle Glade police said he fired a .38 caliber bullet through his head early Friday morning in a suicide attempt.

Smith, who had been under the care of a brain specialist since Sunday, shot himself in dependency over ill health, police said.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday at Community Methodist Church with Reverend H. E. Garrett officiating. Burial will be in Flagler Memorial Garden, Miami.

A native of Monticello, Fla., Smith moved to this city about 10 years ago from Thomsville, Ga. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. George Smith; his wife, Mrs. Mary Smith; a son, Charles Warren; all of Belle Glade. (Continued on page Four)

VETERANS'DAY

November 11th, "Armistice Day" is now designated "Veterans' Day" to honor all men and women who served America in the armed forces.

We salute the veterans of all wars who have secured for us our mode of life!

Things don't sound so good now-a-days, though!

A general and an admiral were irritating their stomach ulcers over rank and authority in Pearl Harbor, and higher echelons were "wag-gabbering" mentally and militarily, when the Japs hit.

Millions of Americans helped to correct the sins of omission and commission of the "social soldiers and politicians" in World War II.

The Army, Air Corps and Navy were spending time and dollars fussing about priorities and publicity, and all keeping from the public information about our progress in space missiles, when the Russians went "whammy" with Sputnik and Mutnik.

The Administration Brain Trust, gives us conflicting viewpoints as to just how far behind we are in space invasion. Political pop-offs are making more noise than the firing of missiles.

Self-proclaimed and economy-minded politicians, mixed with social-minded military brass of the top echelons here "goofed."

We object to the Russians sending a dog up in the Mutnik—a monkey would, it seems, more accurately symbolize what they did to our space-missile efforts.

However, proficiency in the social graces and political shenanigan must be bolstered with scientists, soldiers and statesmen.

It looks, boys and girls, like we might as well be ready!

We'll be seeing you—good luck!

Paul's Modern Sales And Service Has Grand Opening

With special emphasis on service to the public, Paul Sasser, manager of the Glades Old Company, will be holding his grand opening today and tomorrow at Paul's Sales and Service at the corner of Bartfield and Main at Phokoe.

Paul's new modern building at its new location was designed with the customer in mind and features many modern conveniences and services for the motoring public. Paul's Sales and Service has moved from 15 years of experience in the art of customer satisfaction.

The attractive concrete and steel L-shaped building houses a re-cap shop, sales room and service station. Plans for the new home were prepared in 1952 and construction of the re-cap shop in the present location was completed in 1954. In May of this year the additional construction was begun. Throughout October the moving process took place.

Contractors Blanton and Unwin were responsible for shaping the building with concrete. (Continued on page Seven)

Tractor Crushes Negro Wednesday

Paul Ellison, 21-year-old Belle Glade Negro, was crushed to death by a tractor on Wednesday as he attempted to drive a caterpillar tractor from a ramp to a truck in the celery fields of Wedgworth, in the west of Nine Mile Bend.

Eye-witnesses said he was caught up to attempt to load the tractor, but he disregarded suggestions and continued. The tractor tipped over backwards, crushing him.

Ellison, a native of Swainsboro, Ga., had been a Wedgworth employee about two-and-a-half years. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Kenneth Richmond and Coroner J. R. Cherry termed the incident completely accidental.

He is survived by a half-brother, Robert Beal, an uncle, Chas. Allison, and a cousin, Willie Allison, all of Belle Glade, one sister at Fort Pierce and other members of his family at Swainsboro. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Taylor Funeral Home here.

October Valuation In City Up $32,270 Says Inspector Cunningham

Construction valuation in October amounted to $53,660 which was an increase over September of $32,270, according to Building Inspector W. L. Cunningham's monthly report. The report also shows a decrease of $206,904 for the first ten months of 1957 compared to last year. Valuation to Nov. 1, 1956 was $1,178,136 while valuation for the first ten months of 1957 was $971,231.50. There were 26 permits issued for $259.50 in fees. $40,500 of the valuation for October was for new homes. O. G. It was decided in line with the policy of professional organizations that billing for 1958 membership would be sent out during the month of November. (Continued on page Four)

Prison Farm Adds More Personnel

Nearly 20 more persons have been added to the personnel staff of the Glades State Prison Farm at Belle Glade since the appointment of Donald E. Tague as superintendent.

Widespread changes which were prompted by Prison Director R. O. Culver late this summer have begun to materialize as the prison system moves toward a modern method of operation.

Recently the farm announced that the production of sugar cane would be halted next year although the farm will make syrup for all state institutions and process only enough sugar for the Belle Glade farm.

Tague announced this week that plans for a slaughtering house were in the mill and hoped that it would be in operation within the next six months.

Recent additions to the personnel staff include B. E. Riedorff as business manager (The Herald, Oct. 25) who replaced James Baldwin.

In addition Russell Judd has been added to the staff. (Continued on page Six)

Better Water And More Of It Seen As $302,237 Program Gets Underway

More water, a consistent quality of water and lower fire insurance rates are but a few of the advantages to be gained for Belle Glade when the city's three-phase water improvement plan, which began this week, is finished.

The first of more than 450 piling ranging up to 32 feet deep were driven this week under the $302,237 treatment plant construction program now underway by B. A. Roemer Construction Company.

Junior Rams End Perfect Season With Stuart Win

Belle Glade High School's Baby Rams slipped by Stuart Junior team here Tuesday night by a one-touchdown margin, 18-13, to complete an undefeated season with six wins under the coaching of Vince Marques. The Junior varsity now holds two wins each over Clewiston, Pahokee and Stuart. They rolled up 13 points in the season and allowed their opponents only 75. Coach Marques said Wednesday that about ten of the team's most promising grid men will be moved up to work with the varsity squad and perhaps bolster the varsity ranks.

Tuesday Belle Glade scored by taking the opening kickoff and marching to the five where Terry Gordon hit paydirt. The extra point try failed.

On the last play of the half, Stuart's Schultz went through the line and outran the Ram defenders for a 60-yard touchdown romp. Schultz then ran the extra point.

In the third quarter the Rams received a punt on their own 40 and ground out yardage to the 12 from where Gordon went over for his second TD. Timmy Bass ran the extra point.

On the next kick to Stuart Schultz staged a repeat performance and ran 70 yards for their second score, but missed the extra point. Schultz, a ninth grader, has played on the Stuart varsity squad.

Small Child Injured By Family Auto Here

Cindy Newby, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Newby of this city received a slight fracture of her foot and skin tissue injury Wednesday when her mother accidentally struck the child while backing the family car at Pioneer Growers parking area.

One eye witness said Mrs. Newby was moving the car when an open door struck the girl as she stood near it. The car stopped with the wheel resting on her foot. Cindy received emergency treatment at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital and was released.

These Gals Keep Spirits High For Junior Rams

THESE SIX YOUNG LADIES are the "B" string cheerleaders who helped cheer the Junior Rams through their undefeated season. They may someday cheer the Belle Glade High School varsity to similar victories. Seen (l-r) are Linda Rabin, Jimmie Lee Mills, Annette Collins, Jane Kirchman, Mary Mathewson, Linda Lutz.

Phases two and three, the extension of the city's raw water intake at the lake and major changes in the distribution system are set to begin in the near future.

Money available for the project through the water revenue certificates amounts to $395,110.05 after fiscal, legal and engineering fees on the plans and specifications are paid. City officials believe the intake and distribution system cost can be measured by the money now available. There will be additional supervisory engineering fees.

Subcontracting the pile driving is Raymond Concrete Pile Company of Tampa. Much of the work is being done under the supervision of city department heads as well as company officials. Each piling is designed to hold up to 25 tons of metal and concrete.

Wiring of the new plant will be done by Crichtfield Electric. The new plant itself is composed basically of three parts:

1. A 750,000 gallon clear well, low ground reservoir, 81 by 99 feet square. 2. A 60 by 26 feet flocculation basin with eight mixers. 3. A 105 by 82 feet settling basin.

The water from the lake will enter the flocculation basin to be treated. Flocculation of the water measures 330 parts per million and will be treated to 20-25 ppm. After the chemicals are mixed for three hours with the water, it will enter a settling basin for a 21-hour wait to allow settling. (Continued on page Four)

Belle Glade Rams Face Tough Grid Battle Tonight

Belle Glade High School's Golden Rams may be up against their strongest opponent tonight at Memorial Field when the Golden Tornadoes of Pompano blow into town fresh from their 61-0 rout of Seagrass.

Belle Glade, smarting somewhat from their 33-21 loss to the Vero Beach Indians, have been going through extensive fundamental drills this week stressing blocking and tackling in an effort to sharpen their skills on one of their weaker points.

Coach Jim Maynor said the squad was suffering some minor setbacks. (Continued on page Seven)

St. John's Church Receives Altar Cloth

The Episcopal Church of St. John the Apostle, Belle Glade is the recipient of a beautiful handmade linen altar cloth, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. W. Terry Gibson of West Palm Beach.

Last summer when the Gibsons were in London for the meeting of the International Bar Association they ordered the altar cloth from a church supply house located near Westminster Abbey. Father Petrie blessed the cloth at last Sunday's service but said it would not be used even at the Mid-night Mass of Christmas.

STRENGTH THROUGH PRAYER

The Lord hath heard my supplication: the Lord will receive my prayer.—(Psalms 6:5.)

God hears the faintest, unspoken prayer that wells up from our hearts, the silent supplication that forms on our lips—and even as we pray in faith and trust, He is answering: for He is always listening, ever loving and merciful.

One that desires to excel should endeavor it in those things that are themselves most excellent. — Epictetus.

Florida Baptists Exceeds Goal Of A Church A Week

A goal of a new church each week was exceeded by the Florida Baptist Convention for the year ending September 30.

The annual meeting of the convention at the First Baptist Church, Pensacola, November 12-14, will hear this and other reports of its rapid growth.

A goal of a new church a week has been adopted in the last two years, but this is the first time the goal has been reached. Due to the process through which local churches come into the local associations and the convention an exact number is not available, but more than fifty-two have been reported to date with a larger number anticipated, according to Dr. John Maguire, executive secretary-treasurer.

The program usually follows the establishment of a mission by a local church. This mission is operated by the local church for a period of time until the members of the mission, advising with the sponsoring church, feel that they have reached strength and maturity enough to conduct their own affairs. They then petition the sponsoring church to assist in organizing as an independent church and apply for membership into the local association.

Local churches enter the associations and the Florida Baptist Convention by request of their own membership and by a vote of the association. Each Baptist body is completely autonomous, or self-governing.

The convention assists the sponsoring church in the establishment of missions through its financial aid. Last year the new work totalled $240,330.77. One hundred twenty-five applications for new churches were received at the meeting of the state board of missions, August 29-30, 1957.

The convention makes more than 1150 churches with a membership of more than 400,000.

The reverend Earl Stallings, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Ocala, convention president, will preside over the convention. Dr. Nathan C. Brooks, Jr., is pastor of the host church.

Belle Glade Futures — If but twenty-five local businessmen would form a corporation with $25,000 capital, build this building to the manufacturer's specifications, and lease it with no eye to profit from the lease, this company could be captured. Belle Glade could save his money and he would not net $100 per year from the $25,000 floating here in this city? This would be a return of 10% on the investment and the building itself would be owned by the corporation members free and clear within a ten or fifteen year period.

Sleep! Look! Listen! — Other cities will be after this business. Belle Glade must actively compete for this business or lose it. It won't just fall in our laps. # NEGRO NEWS

Negro Intruder At Rosenwald

South Bay police were called to Rosenwald Elementary School Monday to investigate reports of an attempted robbery during the noon hour. There was speculation that the unidentified Negro who approached a small girl in a classroom might have been Charles Greeley, 24, who escaped from Glades State Prison Farm two weeks ago.

The girl, Nancy Simmons, 12, gave police the following account: A man entered the school yard presumably from the nearby cane field and entered the room. He reportedly threatened the girl.

After searching the room, the man left without taking anything and returned to the field. The girl said the man struck her once with a gun.

Later Monday afternoon another small girl was threatened at a nearby residence, apparently by the same man. The Negro entered the home, but authorities reported nothing missing.

The man was described as wearing a khaki shirt and blue dungarees. Police Chief Marvin Jordan at South Bay and prison officials agreed that if the description was correct, the unidentified man could be the missing prisoner.

A search of the nearby fields failed to flush out the intruder.

Police Seize Squeeze Put Squeeze On Squeeze

Squeeze makers squeezed into the news this week for a fleeting moment after Belle Glade police officers approached two Belle Glade negroes busily occupied in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages in the Old Fokas Juke on SW C Place.

John Winkfield was fined $100 and costs or 90 days while charges against Booker T. Hooks were dropped in municipal court Monday night. Police termed the case just one more incident in a city-wide crackdown on persons who manufacture alcoholic beverages.

Basketball Practice Set To Begin At East Lake

Official basketball practice got underway Monday, Nov. 4, for girls and boys at East Lake School at Pahokee state coach Ollie Davis.

The Hawks are expected to make a fair showing this season. The loss of eight boys last year to Lake Shore has caused the Hawk team to be weak. Davis said they would be in the process of building a program this year.

Tommy Pryor, the only man from last year's team, is expected to carry the play for the Hawks. The girls' team will be weak, too, and lack of experience is the main problem. Davis said he hoped to field teams with good fundamental training and good physical condition.

Myrtle Foster Is Named Student Of The Month

Myrtle Foster of the 5th grade class at Everglades Elementary at Pahokee has been chosen first Student of the Month. Selection was made on the basis of scholarship and citizenship once each month.

Her keen interest and ability which attributes to her earning a place on the honor roll for the first six weeks have won her first choice by her classmates.

In other news at the school the 6th grade election of officers was held recently: Jessie Jenkins, president; George Maxey, vice president; Mathis Jackson, treasurer; Perlie Mae Jordan, reporter; Rosa Lee Jones, chaplain.

The primary department has selected "Christmas on the Hill" for its Christmas opera on Dec. 19th. Enrollment at the end of the second month is 174 with the peak not reached.

Negro Deaths

Josh Singleton, long-time Glades resident, died Nov. 2 at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital of a heart ailment at the age of 78. A pioneer in the area, Singleton had been a farm worker here over 25 years.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Mt. Zion AME Church with the Reverend Milton Fayson presiding. Burial was at Port Mayaca. Surviving with the wife, Opheelia, are several sons and daughters whose names were not available. Singleton resided at 524 SW 8th St.

Last rites for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McClain, 601 W. Ave. A were held at Port Mayaca Nov. 4 following the child's death due to a respiratory ailment.

Graveside services were held Nov. 4 for Doris Anthony Corley, 1 at Port Mayaca following her death Nov. 1 at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital of a heart ailment. Mother of the deceased lived at 545 SW Ave. E.

Auto Crash Here Slows Stork Race

The proverbial dash to the hospital with the expectant mother caused a little more confusion here Monday night than was originally bargained for as a speeding station wagon missed a traffic light, smashed into a parked boat and trailer and stopped abruptly after crashing in the side of Belle Glade Motors here.

Police Lieutenant V. R. Clark said the stork race began shortly before ten o'clock at about 8th St. when Betty Lou Kenzie was rushed to the waiting station wagon by friends and neighbors. Mollie Franklin jumped behind the wheel.

Clark said the speeding vehicle may have set an all-time record for high speed of east-bound cars on Ave. E. The wagon zipped through the intersection at Main St., brakes were applied shortly thereafter. The wagon sideswiped a truck, skidded 135 feet and hit the boat, trailer and building.

When Lt. Clark arrived, the only calm person in the group was the expectant mother, he said. An ambulance was summoned to complete the trip which proved premature, since it was several hours later before Betty Lou gave birth to a girl.

Driver of the vehicle was charged with reckless driving, having no driver's license and causing an accident involving personal injury. A hearing is set for tonight in municipal court. Mother and daughter are reported in good condition.

Marriage Plans Revealed

Reverend Milton Fayson announced the approaching marriage of his daughter, Gwendolyn, 21, to Robert E. Tucker, 20, a senior at Fla. A & M, which will be held at Mt. Zion AME Church here on the last Sunday in December.

The five o'clock ceremony will be conducted by Dr. F. Coffee, presiding elder of the M-i-a-m-i district of AME Churches.

James H. Stephenson was named chief of mechanical and construction services, a position formerly held by J. L. Greer. Judd, former Cleveland resident, has worked for prison systems at Raiford and Belle Glade previously.

James H. Stephenson has been named guard sergeant who will patrol the industrial area of the prison. Stephenson was formerly a foreman at the Pompano camp and has worked for the Cleveland Police Department.

Don Hassfurther, who has been here since September, is a classification supervisor at the farm who deals with records and reports and interviews prisoners as part of the overall advancement program now in progress.

Leonard Hamm, named assistant to Teague, is a retired federal prison guard who retired with a lieutenant's rank. Teague said Belle Glade employment officials and Tallahassee corrections personnel are currently seeking a medical technician to add to the growing staff here.

Total administrative and supervisory personnel now total 54 while the prisoner population this week is 316.

Rotarians Attend Annual Conference

Approximately 700 Rotarians from Ormond Beach to Key West were expected to attend the annual conference of District 699 of Rotary International Nov. 7-9 at Miami, George Royal, Belle Glade Rotary President said this week.

Representatives from the 40 other Rotary clubs in South Florida, which make up the district, also are attending the conference for the purpose of reviewing Rotary service activities and making plans for increasing their effectiveness during the coming year.

Prominent Rotarians were scheduled to make addresses to the delegates.

Local Rotarians who are attending the conference are Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. George Royal.

At this conference a Rotarian will be nominated to serve as governor of the district for the 1958-59 fiscal year. He will take office on July 1, 1958, as the official representative of Rotary International.

The new governor will be formally elected, along with more than 200 other district governors from all parts of the world, at Rotary International's 1958 convention at Dallas, Texas in June.

BELLE GLADE RAMS

Injuries, however, nothing was serious. Tommy Dunlap will see action at end replacing Jimmy Webster who is out with a bad shoulder. Skipper Poole will replace Chambliss who, the coach says, needs a rest.

Belle Glade is still winless in the conference while other Glades teams are showing much better progress statistically. Cleverston undefeated this year is ranked eighth in the state according to one survey and Pompano was given the 11th slot in the same survey. Pahokee's Blue Devils who play Vero at Lair field tonight have a 2-2 conference record with a 3-3 overall.

One point that can be made with reference to Pompano's cloudburst against Seacrest is that they did it while Seacrest had five regulars on the sick list and five more left the game with injuries to leave fresh and sophomore members on the field. Belle Glade although their line is light and inexperienced, has shown that sometimes it can be stubborn as a seasoned mule. Coach Maynor hoped to improve his line this week.

B. G. - Vero

Calvin Cox of the Vero Indians rolled up 162 yards in touchdown runs last Friday which was largely responsible for the 33-21 defeat the Rams received.

With runs of 24, 17, 59 and 63 yards Cox scored twice in two quarters while waiting for the Rams to get moving. Wes added another first quarter score to the game.

On the first play of the 4th quarter a 52-yard pass from Chambliss to Thomas made the Rams' first score. After the Indian reserves came in, Chambliss recovered a fumble on the Vero 20 and scored a few plays later from the one.

Jack Hamilton recovered the second fumble on the Vero 32 and Phil Carr scored from 8 yards out shortly after.

Mike Campbell kicked three conversions for the winners while Charles Schoenfeld's toe added three points for the losers.

Used them with "Pick-My-Pockets," which they picked a gift from the many pockets on their costumes.

Special Council Meeting Called To Consider City Country Club Lease Here

The Belle Glade City Commission held a special meeting Wednesday night to discuss leasing the golf course and country club to a private individual who would operate the facility for profit. No action was taken since the individual failed they would favor such a site.

In other action the council authorized the city manager to negotiate with the owner of five acres of land south of the city dump near Chosen as a possible site for the sewage treatment plant.

Location of the plan at that point would save 8,000 feet of sewerage main and the cost of health officials have indicated they would favor such a site.

The city manager was also authorized to advertise for two new police cars and a dump truck chassis; and purchase a fire engine.

The council also took action to authorize the city manager to lease the old Belle Glade trailer park site at 2nd St. for use as an outdoor swimming pool.

A new report on studies with varieties of popcorn in the Glades area has just been released by the two men responsible for the project, Victor E. Green, Jr., associate agronomist, and Emma D. Harris, Jr., assistant entomologist, at the Everglades Experiment Station. Covering the period 1952-1957, the studies were made with the cooperation of Central Popcorn Company, Schaller, La. More than 20 varieties were tested.

The tests concluded that popcorn could be grown profitably in this region. In fact, the tests showed that as few as 4,000 pounds per acre of popcorn grains were produced.

All That Meat But No Potatoes

WHOLE LOTTA SHAKIN' GOIN' ON as this impressive group of civic-minded individuals race frantically against time to prepare hamburgers for the Halloween carnival last week. Just how many cooks does it take to make a hamburger? This group made around 500 Thursday night. The executive line-up above consists of George Young, livestock market manager; C. L. Todd, an insurance publisher; Howard Hill, a veterinarian (does your hamburger taste different lately?); Ralph Freeman, a state inspector of sorts; and chief patiemaker Luther Jones, Herald publisher.

S. Bay Carnival Most Successful

South Bay's P.T.A. Halloween Carnival on October 31 is considered one of the finest and most successful of the events' history. Financially, the gross receipts of $1742.05 is the largest income yet realized. However, unpaid bills will reduce this figure to a $1550 to $1600 net income.

Featured concessions included were the ping-pong, ball toss and checker pitch by the Safety patrol boys, a sling shot game operated by Ray Sullivan, the fish pond by the fourth grade, ring toss by the sixth grade, a basketball throw and dart game by the Student Council and a cake walk by the seventh and eighth grades jointly. Rides available and widely enjoyed included pony rides, hay rides and fire truck rides all sponsored by the fifth grade. For the hungry people a delicious supper featuring barbecued chicken a la Ray Whitlock and Robert Stokes was served by the second grade sponsors. The American Legion provided sandwiches and drinks and the third grade served deserts and coffee to insure that no one should go hungry.

The South Bay Garden Club sold tickets on a beautiful life-like doll which was won by Mrs. Marvin Davis. The Lion's Club steer raffle was very successful with the winning ticket being held by T. L. Driggers. Mrs. Driggers then sold the fine white-faced hereford back to the Carnival for $10 and the original owner, Robert Stokes, purchased the animal and returned him to the pasture he had won.

Through this exchange, a sizeable benefit was realized by the Carnival Fund. The Dunking Pool built and readied by the South Bay Lions Club was left unused to the relief of several local citizens who viewed the cool evening as not ideal for a swimming party. The P.T.A. and the Carnival Co-Chairmen, Mrs. John L. Evans, President, and Charles Godwin, school principal, wish to sincerely thank the people of South Bay's school community and the many others who so willingly cooperated in helping to make the carnival the success that it was. South Bay's school program will benefit greatly from this outstanding effort.

Calves Determine Cattle Profit

Profit in the production of beef cattle is largely determined by the percentage of calves weaned from the cows bred, says Dr. M. Koger, animal husbandman with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station. "This means," he said, "that every cow which is wintered should give birth to a calf."

Another important factor is to provide all cattle all the forage they can consume at all times during the year. Periods of starvation, even of short duration, result in damage to cattle that requires months of superabundance of feed to repair. Thus winter forage must be provided through deferred grazing or by feeding of silage or hay. Protein needs of the animals must be met through supplemental feed when the quality of feed is poor.

Culling of low-producing cows is essential. Dr. Koger says to cull low-producing cows which are not paying their keep, even if they cannot be replaced that year. Low-producing cows will produce low-producing calves. He pointed out that the bottom 10 per cent of the calves from a herd at the Florida Experiment Station was worth an average of only $40, while the top 10 per cent averaged $92. The use of top grade sires is equally important. The offspring of one sire at the Experiment Station was worth an average of $11 more per head at weaning time than calves sired by another sire of the same breed to comparable cows. Sires which do an inferior job can be spotted if the cattleman watches his herd closely. An on-the-farm production tiated by the Florida Agricultural Extension Service for the purpose of aiding the rancher in herd improvement. Use of this information can make beef cattle production a much more profitable enterprise than it is today. Ranchers are urged to contact their county agents for full information.

John H. Causey, Assistant County Agent for Palm Beach County, was elected Vice President of the Florida State Horticultural Society from the vegetable section during that organization's annual meeting at Miami, Oct. 29-31.

The position is reportedly a prominent one and therefore the election to that post is considered an honor.

The Last Of The Steamboat Men

Maybe you have seen a sternwheeler splashing up some river, pushing a passel of barges along a nice dredged-out channel with a finger-piling at every bend and a buoy on every sandbar. You saw a guy in a white cap up there in the pilot house, and you thought you were looking at a steamboat captain. Well, son, you ain't seen nothing but a floating truck driver, for the last steamboat captain has done tied up in his home port and pulled his fires for the last time. And you won't see no'er another one, boy, because there ain't going to be no more.

Steamboats are finished, son, killed by the railroads and highways and diesel engines, yes, and by the high cost of hired help and cordwood. They were run off from the St. Johns and the Oklawaha, from the Suwannee and Indian River, then from the Caloosahatchee and Kissimmee, and they made their last stand right here on Lake Okeechobee.

Now, if you were a mind to picture the captain of one of those old "wet tall" boats, you would most likely imagine him to be tall and spare and straight, with a big white moustache, horned like a parson, tanned face, with keen blue eyes, and a shock of snowy hair crowned by a battered boatman's cap, and I reckon you would have a pretty accurate portrait of old Captain Clay Johnson, the last of Florida's steamboat skippers. And if you had of told him he was the dead spit of old Mark Twain, he'd have been your friend for life.

Captain Johnson steamboated where there were neither buoys nor beacons nor dredged-out channels, no searchlight to pick up his marks, nor ship-to-shore telephone to let his missus know he'd be an hour late getting home. But he could read the face of the water like a parson reading scripture. He'd never mistake a wind ripple for a sarghar ripple. He knew the silver streak that marks a hidden snag, the lines and curves over a shoal and the boil above a dissolving bar. Likewise, he knew how the river channels shape in fog or mist or pitchy darkness. Under a slow bell he might nose his boat up some twisting hyacinth-clogged creek that he had never seen before in his boated life, in water knee deep to a pond brim, and with cypress branches framing her stern at every bend and Spanish moss fluttering from the funnel stays, knowing full well that when he had delivered his load, he could never turn around and would have to back her out for half a dozen miles or so.

Or when the summer rains had swelled the Kissimmee to a mile wide lake, he knew which one of the many channels would get him home the quickest without ramming a stob slam through her bottom. In the narrow, twisty Caloosahatchee he knew the trick of getting her nose around the freshest-swelled bends when the current tried to throw her crossways as she poked her nose around the corner. And he could read the clouds and the sky at sunset.

I recollect when Otis Hardin, a civil engineer, had built himself a big digging machine in Okeechobee, loaded it crossways on two barges, and got Captain Johnson in the "Oseola" and me in the gasoline-powered "Leviathan" to move the rig to St. Lucie Canal. Those two side-by-side barges didn't lack much of taking up the whole width of narrow Taylor's Creek, but with one boat ahead and one behind, we pushed and pulled and scissor-billed them down to the highway bridge, meanwhile piling up enough hyacinths under our flat bottoms to leave a solid trail of verdure in our wake from the creek spang into St. Lucie Locks.

It seems like nobody had thought to measure the width of the bridge opening, and we had to cut loose and wrap those barges through by hand with only an inch of daylight on either side. With "Leviathan" lashed alongside the "Oseola," I joined the skipper in his pilot house as he laid a course for the locks.

Needing only a good listener, Captain Johnson, retired in 1883, Hamilton Diston had got him from New Orleans to take charge of his Kissimmee shops and build the boats and dredges for his drainage operations. The skipper later bought the 35-foot steamer "Mamie Lowrie" and started freighting for the new settlers on the Kissimmee. That was pretty profitable, so he had brought the steamer "Cincinnati" from Chicago, and then had built the "Rosebud" and the "Lillie," named for his daughters and skippered by their husbands.

Then, in 1909, he built the "Oseola," biggest of his fleet. Not only had he built her, but he said he even designed and built her engines, and folks tell me that every day he could be seen riding from Kissimmee to the boat yard on his bicycle, an old high wheeler. Like the Gilbert brothers, he ran regular schedules between Kissimmee and Ft. Basinger, a distance of 60 miles by road but twice that distance in the crooked river.

When the railroad arrived in Okeechobee City in 1915, he left the river and operated on Lake Okeechobee and its canals. In spite of competition from other steamboats and two gasoline-powered propeller boats, if there was any to be moved that was either heavy or difficult, old Clay was sure to get the job. Moving sugar mills was, to him, almost a habit. With his "Mamie Lowrie" he had brought in all the bricks and machinery for Diston's mill at St. Cloud, the first sugar mill on muck in Florida.

Then, in 1923, he fetched the first mill in the Everglades to Canal Point for Florida Sugar and Food Products Corporation. That same year Captain Johnson hauled the machinery for Pennsylvania Sugar Company's new mill 16 miles up the canal from Miami to Pennsauk, and when this mill was abandoned, he moved it again to Southern Sugar Company's location in Clewiston. Between times he kept his boats busy hauling building material, bridge girders, rock and sand for locks and for the construction of Comer's Highway. For variety, when the Everglades canals became clogged with hyacinths until a gator couldn't navigate, the state would get the "Oseola's" paddle-wheel to fan the cussed things out. While telling about the by-gone days, Captain Johnson produced a yellowed book from beside his bunk and showed me pictures of himself posing with Seminoles in their tunics, waistcoats and turbans, and proudly pointed out passages describing his past exploits.

Although by nature a most clever and agreeable person, Captain Johnson, like most skippers of his time, could, when he was riled, display a most remarkable temper, and his profanity would shame the skinner of a government mule. But let's don't be too harsh in judging folks. Did you ever have a barge break loose in a sudden gale on a dead lee shore, and with nobody to try to make it fast again but a backwoods deckhand who didn't know a towing bitt from a bilge pump?

There are times that try men's souls and towboating is full of them. On some such occasion the good skipper might heave his cap onto the deck and loudly cry that God Almighty had sent the winds to a little boy to play with, shake his fist toward the flashing heavens and toss a handful of coins into the elements to "pay off the winds." The lake people knew good and well that such blasphemy was sure to be punished by a lightning bolt, but I reckon the Good Lord just considered his many virtues and sort of overlooked the matter.

One by one the steamboats on the lake had sunk, burned or been laid up. The fleets of J. Fred and Conrad Menge and of Ben Franklin Hall who all had come to the lake with Diston, were no more. The crew of the "Indian River," Peter Cons, his son Percy and grandson Carl (now in Belle Glade), had gone ashore. The "Suwannee," "Skimmer," "Corona," "Waunita," and the "Astoria" no longer splashed their way across Lake Okeechobee. Only Captain Johnson remained.

The "Oseola" was the pride of his heart. He bragged that she could float in a heavy dew and could out-pull anything on the lake, but when in a contest off St. Lucie Canal, the little diesel tug "C. J. Morrow" pulled the big "Oseola" backward the old man never was the same again. But when she finally sunk at Lookahatchee he gave up.

Steamboating was finished, his best boat sunk, his eyesight was failing, and so, having nothing further to keep him here, in October of 1931, he quietly slipped his moorings for his farewell journey on the River of No Return. And that, son, was the last of steamboating in Florida.

Escaped Prisoners Are Returned To Jail After Capture In Levy County

Three prisoners who escaped Oct. 30 from the Glade Prison Farm here have been taken to county jail following their capture early this week at Bronson, Fla. by sheriff's authorities there.

The trio stole a truck at Pahokee owned by A. L. Strickland then changed to a stolen car at Ocala. The stolen car was spotted at Bronson and Levy County authorities took over.

Constable W. L. Lee returned to Williams, 19, Bobby Sheddick, 25, and Henry Moore, 20, all Negroes, to West Palm Beach to await trial in criminal court.

Farm superintendent D. E. Teague said the men escaped after the prison's rear fence. Teague said the trio faced one to ten years additional sentence for escape and probably up to five years for taking the vehicle.

Granny Boorman Honored At 85

Mrs. Fred Boorman honored her mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Boorman with a party Thursday, Oct. 31 on her 85 birthday at her home on Railroad Street in South Bay.

A large white cake decorated with red roses was served with ice cream, Cokes, minis, candies of all kinds and apples to all the children on Railroad Street. Cards and gifts were received from Mrs. W. C. Allen, Mrs. Addison Hicks, Mrs. Minnie Hester, Mrs. Lee Farmer.

Granny Boorman came to Florida 10 years ago for a visit to see the beautiful sunshine state, as she had been told by her son. She stayed for awhile and returned back to her home in Waterville, N. Y., but Granny had got some muck in her shoes so in 1950 she came to make her home here with her son and his family. Granny Boorman's life has not been a bed of roses in the 85 years she has been in this world but she says she has enjoyed them all and thanks God for a beautiful life.

She is the mother of two sons and one granddaughter, Miss Janice Boorman.

Granny Boorman's husband had the misfortune of losing his eyesight shortly after their marriage in the year of 1895, so bringing up their family fell to her. She did practical nursing for many years and often told us about going out in the country when the weather was 20 to 30 below zero and having to wade in snow to help some one who was in need of medical treatment. She tells of being under a doctor's orders. Granny had friends who came to her for advice and help.

She is a Gold Star mother of World War One and a life member in the American Legion Auxiliary. She has told of cooking for our service boys of World War One and in those days it was do unto others as you would have them do unto you and help your neighbors. Some one asked Granny to what did she attribute her long life? She said hard work, live a good clean and useful life and above all have faith in God and go to the church of your choice.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Smith entertained at their home Tuesday night with a fish dinner neday after visiting her brother and Linda and Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Smith and family and Payton and Clayton Smith.

Injured were Joan Sheridan, 19, Sheldon B. Sheridan 31, Loyola Sheridan, 50, and Mrs. Ann Sheridan, 21, an expectant mother, who was detained at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital for observation. Driving the southbound car was James H. Sheridan, 25, of Miami, who was not injured.

New York State Man Dies Saturday While In Car

A 59-year-old Oneida, New York man, Howard F. Stelley, died of a heart attack Saturday after stopping his car at the side of the road while travelling 18 miles south of South Bay.

FHP Trooper R. G. Russell reasoned that Stelley, who was on his way to Fort Lauderdale to spend the winter, felt the attack coming and was able to stop his vehicle.

A passing motorist, Julian Griggs, nursery director at Occoala Center here, arrived at Stelley's car just moments before Stelley died while lying on the pavement near his car. The victim's wife, travelling to Fort Lauderdale in a separate car, learned of her husband's death early Sunday.

Complete Styling Changes And Mechanical Advances Mark 1958 Oldsmobile

Exciting styling changes that enhance the appearance from every angle mark a completely new Oldsmobile for 1958. In addition, the General Motors is introducing a true air suspension system, newly efficient and economical Rocket engines and an improved Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive.

The 1958 Oldsmobile will be on display, beginning November 8, at Christian Chevrolet at Clewiston.

Oldsmobile's new "mobile look" is very evident in the entirely redesigned body, new rear quarter panels, a new front end with recess-type grille and four-beam headlamps, one-piece rear window with greater area and new rear deck and roof. The decorative trim on the side panels accentuates the length, flowing lines and low silhouette of the new Oldsmobile.

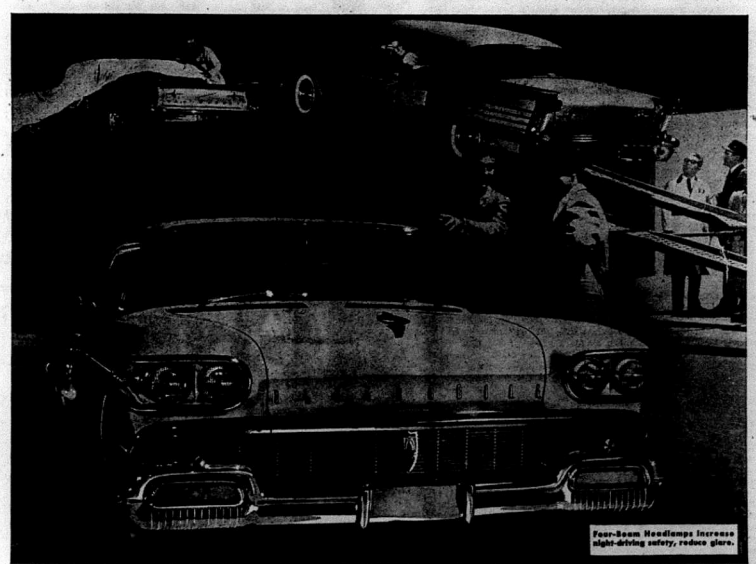

Oldsmobile for 1958 offers three different Rocket engines in its three series of cars. The economy-driven Dynamic "88" is powered by an engine with the new "Econo-way" dual carburetor and is rated at 265 horsepower. This engine represents the greatest fuel economy improvement in Oldsmobile history. The Super "88" and "98" series both have the Rocket engine with quadri-jet carburetor and developing 305 horsepower.

Interior styling of the 1958 Oldsmobile matches the striking new exterior appointments. This Super "88" and "98" Holiday models present a new "at-a-glance" headlining of sponge vinyl in light colors to set off the "fashion-fair" upholstery offered in a variety of colors and fabrics. Among the nine fabrics available is a three-dimensional plaid-tylon cloth that affords greater passenger comfort, offered on several Holiday models.
